March 13, 2020

Dear Classical Families,

As we move through unchartered territory, we appreciate your patience and understanding. We are doing all we can to keep learning happening for students and families. Teachers will be reaching out to students through Jupiter with engagement activities to support your students’ learning. We understand there are challenges for some being able to access online work, so students will not be penalized if they are unable to access this work. If your student has work that they would like feedback on, they can submit that to their teachers but they are not required to do so. It is important for students to keep learning and to keep a structured day, so any support in pushing your students to do the following would be helpful and keep them ready for their return to school. Students should be checking in for updates daily on Jupiter Ed.

https://login.jupitered.com

Set aside time for:

Reading, journaling, writing, math practice, exercise, talking with peers and siblings, games with friends and families. Your teachers are providing you with links to engaging online curricula to support your learning around the standards that they would be covering in school.

Lynn Classical, Lynn English, LVTI and Marshall Middle School will be providing lunch for students to come and grab and bring home from 11:00 to 1:00.

I wish you all well during this time away, please keep all of your families close and safe. We will communicate regularly with any new information. If you have questions you can contact the school by phone at 781-477-7404 or reach out to staff through Jupiter.

Thank you,

Amy Dunn